

Your Generics & Biosimilars Industry

Brian Hart

Vice President, Communications

Association for Accessible Medicines (AAM)

Brian Hart is Vice President of Communications for the Association of Accessible Medicines. He facilitates internal, external, and member communications and marketing for AAM and the Biosimilar Council.

Brian has over 20 years of experience in public relations and policy communications. He was appointed as the director of the office of media relations and was the primary spokesperson for a federal agency, and served as communications director for three U.S. senators, including the ranking member of the Health committee and the chairman of the HHS appropriations subcommittee. He also consulted for Fortune 100 clients as a senior media strategist and public affairs specialist for global communications firms Ketchum and Hill & Knowlton.